MYKONOS BIENNALE 2023
YELLOW HOUSE, MYKONOSBIENNALE.COM

What happened to the Thirteenth Month? In mythology, the twelve months correspond to the twelve gods and goddesses of the Olympic Pantheon. The missing thirteenth month is the god of celebration, Dionysus. This fallen god was exiled because he symbolized the opposition to the principle of authority. Celebration disrupts order, dissolves fear, and reverses logic through the dimension of intoxication. It breaks down borders, awakening a common consciousness. The Thirteenth Month was shared and devoured by the twelve remaining months, gods or apostles. This is the meaning of the Last Supper, the sacrifice and impregnation through the Holy Communion.

Tribute to Aristotelis Vassilikiotis

UNTIL 30/7, MUNICIPAL ART GALLERY OF MYKONOS, +30 22890 27190

After being presented at the Teloglion Foundation of Arts in Thessaloniki, the retrospective exhibition about Aristotelis Vassilikiotis, was relocated for this year's summer in his beloved Mykonos. An island with which he connected his life and art after meeting and marrying Frosso Axiotis, local of the island and sister of Melpo Axiotis. Apart from this exhibition named "a course of unexpected changes", Mykonos is hosting a permanent exhibition showing artworks that were generously donated by his daughter, Amaryllis (Maria) Vassilikioti-Weiler.

TAPISSERIE / TAPESTRY

12-30/9, MUNICIPAL ART GALLERY OF MYKONOS,
+30 22890 27190

In a co-organization with Naxos Festival, the group installation curated by Iris Kritikou, is a conversion of the contemporary weaving loci of the participating visual artists with the timeless weaving tradition of Greece. The result defines other ways, exploring new materials, devising self-taught methods of handcrafting, and proposing innovative woven landscapes offering aesthetic, plastic and symbolic annotations and solutions in the process and the endless possibilities of weaving. Using cotton, flax, wick, burlap, wool and silk, wire, textiles, threads, handmade paper and cardboard, jute, sisal, reeds and woods, dyes and rags, they explore, redefine and recreate the timelessness of the art of weaving.

GROUP SHOW

UNTIL 30/9, RARITY GALLERY, RARITYGALLERY.COM

This year's group exhibition at the Rarity Gallery offers a selection of works of painting and sculpture by 30 renowned international artists, among which are included: Julian Opie, Joana Vasconcelos, Hunt Slonem. The curation of the exhibition presents with exceptional harmony and contemporary high aesthetics the different ways in which the artists express their work. You can also admire works by Ellen Von Unwerth, the world's top fashion photographer, with photographs of the most famous stars like Madonna, Claudia Schiffer and Kate Moss.

NIKOS VANDOROS "SACRED HARBORS"

1-10/9, MUNICIPAL ART GALLERY OF MYKONOS,
+30 22890 27190

The retrospective photography exhibition by Nikos VANDOROS captures female sensuality in the barren and harsh landscapes of Mykonos and Delos. The artist calls it retrospective because of his relationship with the island for the last 30 consecutive years. Its purpose is to highlight the island through his personal view, aiming to provide the visitor a second and deeper reading, avoiding touristic and impersonal depictions.

ESER GÜNDÜZ & RYOSUKE MISAWA

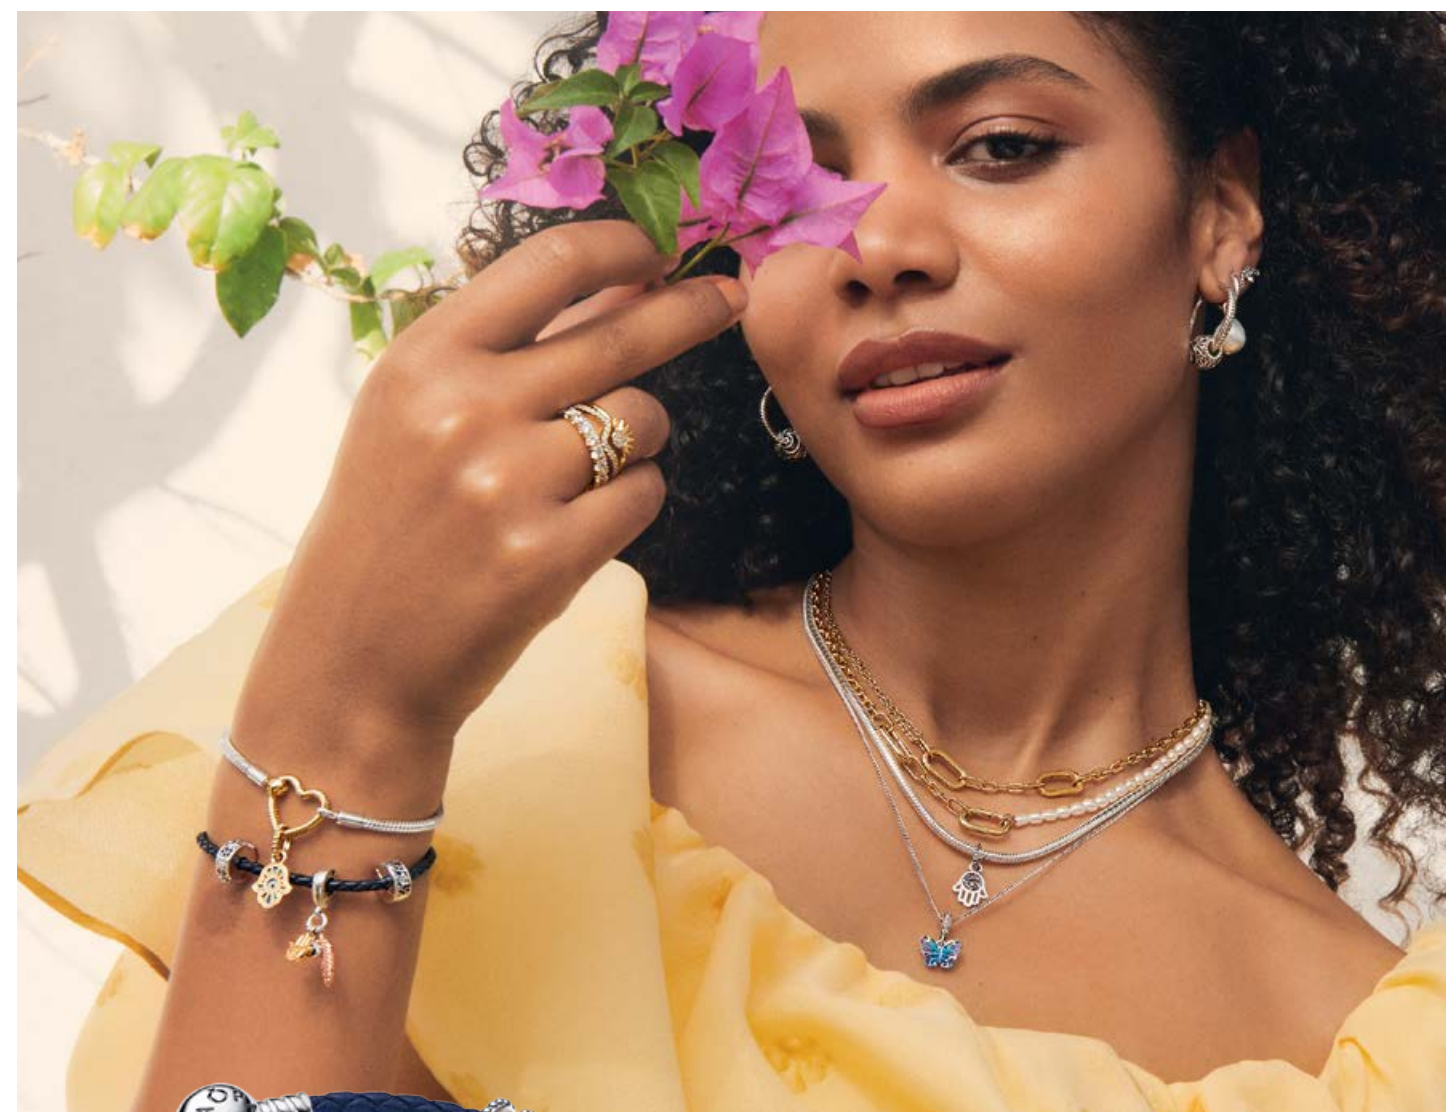

UNTIL 2/8, HOFA GALLERY, THEHOUSEOFFINEART.COM

You can admire two solo shows in Hofa Gallery in this year's summer. The first belongs to Japanese abstract painter Ryosuke Misawa. His unique style of portraiture which combines influences of digital and analog media result in artworks which literally and conceptually reach beyond the bounds of their flat canvases, intriguing viewers with a sense of familiarity and alienation that serve the artist's goal of illuminating gaps in perception. The second, exhibits works by Turkish expressionist Eser Gündüz. With his experimental style combining surrealism, retro-futurism and fantasy, along with overt references to the aesthetics of architecture, scientific drawings, cartography and pop culture, Eser's artworks are remarkable and distinct, inspiring instinctual and intellectual responses from his audience.

THE ELEMENTS OF THE MYTH OF MYKONOS

Everyone should visit Mykonos” had stated the First Lady of America and the first member of the international jet set ever to visit the island. We all knew it was not going to be the last one. In the next pages the reasons of this success explained one by one. BY IRA SINIGALIA

1. THE CHARISMA OF THE LOCALS

Ever since the early days in the '50s when its first lovers “discovered” its reality, rumors and tall stories have invariably got into a frightful tangle lavishly sprinkled with gold-dust, which is not at all surprising given that people have always held extreme views of Mykonos. Then the island was little more than a village; small and white. The electric company would supply electricity to the island up to midday; water was a luxury, and most houses had water tanks, wells, primus stoves, braziers, coal and storm lamps. “(...) Traveler’s first impression is that Mykonos wasn’t finally a big deal. A deserted half-finished pier, forgotten by God. The port’s dark during the night and earthy during the day, with the meltemi raising clouds of dispersed dust that makes one feel like leaving before you have arrived. (...) Let it be. Maybe someday people would understand that everything in life is a stage effect creating an ambiance; a nice and pleasant ambiance holding you close or a cold ambiance turning you away.” These words belong to the Greek pioneer Zachos Chatzifotou who came to know the island during the early 50’s. He was an elegant “settler”, a member of the bon viveurs clan of young dudes who invaded the island seeking a remoted and pristine place to be and to live. The Mykonians put up with the fancy crowd, the boys and the girls who were vividly strolling around the island, on its sandy beaches and in its white-washed narrow streets. The locals, as hospitable as can be, let the first visitors into their houses. The morning schedule included a boat ride for a swim to Aghios Stefanos, or for the fitter members, a long walk to Ornos. In the afternoon everyone goes up to Skalaria on foot. This is the very spot where, later on, Makis Zouganelis opened the renowned Remezzo. So there was Mykonos’ first “club”, Kioukas’ Sali Bagli – named after a character in an oriental fairy tale – serving coffee, turkish delight and stewed sweets. In the evenings, spirits were high and the island's white alleys would ring with the laughter of merry-makers. Melina, Eleni Vlahou, Zahos Chatzifotiou, Dimis Kritsas were just a few of the prime movers who discovered Mykonos and made sure it became known throughout Greece and beyond. Furthermore the whole of high-society Athens went to Mykonos over the next years. But that is only part of the story. Soon Elsa Maxwell organized cruises for stars and the royals. Some years later, the first «clubs» started tentatively cropping up. Sali Bagli was taken over by Mimis Zouganelis and is renamed Paralos. Rich and glamorous customers excelled one another in beauty, high spirits and good mood. Grace Kelly, sad Princess Sorayia, Melina with Dassin, Jean Moreau with Thodoros Roubanis, Brigitte Bardot, and many others... Yachts are lined up at the port: Niarchos' «Creoli», Papagou-Horn's «Eros», Fix's «Isabella», Karella's «Thentara», Kostas and Heidi Goulondri's «Cinderella».

cycladic story

2. THE CELEBRITIES' FACTOR

Onassis would often drop the anchor of «Christina» off the coast and have Maria Callas, and later on Jackie Kennedy, taken ashore on speedboat. The former First Lady of America had been to Greece on a state visit in 1961. Jackie had been to see the Acropolis escorted by Amalia Karamanlis, had her picture taken next to the Charioteer at Delphi, and had sailed on a warship up to Mykonos. Her enthusiastic reception by the islanders lined up at the port for her arrival, the white-washed houses, Petros the pelican, who rushed to be photographed by her side, everyone's simplicity fascinated the star of the Kennedys. She would come back accompanied by her sister Lee Ratzuille. The rest of the jet set would soon follow. Galatis' and Maroulina's clientele would now feature Hollywood stars, princesses from the Orient and stunning beauties from Europe. Giannis Galatis' house, frequently photographed by the International Press, at Platis Yialos, becomes the setting for legendary parties. A motley assortment of guests – Princes Kressi, Ard Von Krow, Efi Mela, Rika Dialyna, Prince Carl Von Furstenberg, Thomas Fritz, Ann Lomberg, Yehudi Menuhin, Dimitris Vittos, Elli Lampsas are all there. Queen of the island is Anna Veltsou, whose house is a stopover for celebrities arriving at Mykonos. There is dancing at Paralos, with Sobolas playing the guitar and Maria (who would be proprietress of Chez Maria's years later) singing along... It's wild merrymaking! One day Onassis takes a seat at Kostis' café down the road from the Town Hall, favourite hangout of Melpo Axioti, a great Mykonean lady. Further down at Andreas' tavern, Mrs Maria was cooking for John Lennon, Agatha Christie or Werner Von Brown. Once Paul Newman, having enjoyed a delicious meal, picked up a felt tip pen and scribbled on the wall "Paul Newman had a meal here", but Andreas rushed to have it whitewashed because it...spoiled the whiteness of the wall!

As time goes by, the whole of high-society Athens find their way to the island. Eleni Vlahou, Pavlos Vardinogiannis, Dimitris Karellas, Dimis Kritsas, Zahos Hatzifotiou with Jenny Karezi, Aliko, Lola Tsoukatou, Nassos Botsis, Takis Horn, Anna Veltsou and many more everybody's favourites. In those days, a few good people knew about the island. This, however, has changed and that's what people moan about years later, as they watch tourism assume a completely different form with each passing decade. In 1967, Paralos is taken over by Makis Zouganelis and is dubbed Remezzo. Shortly afterwards, at Yialos, at a building open to the sky which had been a «casino» with «electronic» games of that bygone age, Kostas Zouganelis sets up «9 Muses». With parties going on strong till the morning light, the early discos of the island were here to stay.

3. THE CRAZINESS OF NIGHTLIFE

By the early '70s, Mykonos had been fully conditioned for what was to follow. The road was open, literally, and the remote sandy beaches welcome the first nudists. The first ferries put in at the port. New hotels and shops are mushrooming all over. It is the age of disco and fabulous parties. It is also the age when the new arrivals will give the island its new identity. Pierro Aversa with the first gay bar on the island; Johnnie Reed with Vengera; Billy Bo, Takis Theodorakopoulos, Babis Passaoglou, Vicky Leandros, Zoe Laskari, Angelos Droulias, Erikos Petilon. Among them the Mykonean prime movers, like Vassilis Koussathanas, Thodoris Fouskis, the Zouganelis... Pierro Aversa arrives at the island from New York sometime in the middle of the '60s. He is the one who gives Paradise and Super Paradise beaches their names, and opens one of the world's most famous bars, the celebrated Pierro's. Pierro knew almost everyone there was to know, and very soon a whole world of art and entertainment, including in its ranks actors, singers, dancers, artists, designers, fashion models started making their way to Mykonos, gradually lending it a gay air. Everyone is looking for something new, everyone finds on Mykonos what they are looking for. Absolute freedom... Filippis opens a restaurant in the courtyard of his family house, at La Palma, the small business next to Vengera, Johnnie Reed sells leather sandals and fine pareos, Giannis Klissouras and Litsa Diamanti open Marquis, the second gay bar on the island, and many more soon follow suit. At the beach in Paragka, the first hippies throw full moon parties. Higher society members sail on Fouskis' boat to Elia. Fabulous models laze away in the sun on Psarou's sandy beach. Now the timing of the events has changed its course. Everything begins at night and... ends at night. There is festive chaos at Pierro's steps every night. The number of visitors is on the increase, and Matoyianni, the main street in Chora, shows the first signs of road traffic. This is the brightest period in the history of the island, never to be repeated. Standing out among the visiting celebrities at the time are Princess Ira Von Furstenberg, Elizabeth Taylor, Jeanne Moreau, Jean Seberg. In the early '80s the pace of life remains much the same. Wild all-night revelries, high-society people and gays from all over the world live in a frenzy of dancing, drinking and uninhibited sex. Babis Passaoglou opens Ibiza and, later on, Astra in collaboration with Minas who drew up the designs. Vengera is open for breakfast at about 10.00. After two in the afternoon, beaches are crammed with naked bodies squeezing in a nap under the hot sun before the next wild drinking spree. Every afternoon, on the veranda of Caprice customers scramble for a table with a view of the sun setting over Venice. At Aghios Sostis, still inaccessible even years later, those who want to lose the crowds discover their paradise.

4. BEACH PERFECT

At Psarou's always-high society beach, gentlemen sporting gold watches, ladies in matching beach towels and fresh from the hairdresser's, and children escorted by Philippenese ladies declare themselves locals after their second visit. At Paradise, models compete with one another for seductive looks. Some beaches, like Paragka or Elia, seem to attract the better part of the island's population. For years to come, Panormos will remain a closely guarded secret to all but to those few that remain faithful to the island. The years go by, until «the plague of the century» finally inflicts a deadly blow upon the island, devastating its once crowded beaches.

The island's amorous fame had spread everywhere. Staunch patrons of the '80s and '90s, fashion superstars, like Valentino, Thierry Mugler and Jean-Paul Gaultier. Hotels are being renovated, rooms to let are being redeveloped, provided with public utility services, assume a distinctive character, they have colour added to them. Beaches are cleaned up, nudists are reduced in number, and gays are forced to be more discreet. Locals recall their Mykonean hospitality, tradition and nobility. The new ring road solves some of the traffic problems, the value of property in certain areas rises, and the first villas of well known businessmen are built. The island is reborn from its ashes, like another phoenix, all within a summer.

5. THE SECRET IS CHANGE

In the '90s the island becomes the favourite resort of a new generation of Greek businessmen and powerful men in other spheres of activity. And this means a lot. Besides, we live in the age of the media. They shape the star system that replaced high society of bygone ages. Publishers, channel directors, contractors and self-made businessmen who, together with some of the old ones like Panos Zinas, Vangelis Tsagaris and Zoe Laskari, are still the core that will push Mykonos back to the top. The party which no one can afford to miss is not Giannis Galatis', but the momentous event of the summer that Lakis Gavalas holds every year.

Matoyiannia is becoming one of the most expensive commercial markets in Greece. Every well-known house, all the maitres, and all the jewelers claim a few square meters of the island's cobbled alleys. The fact is that the quality of life has definitely improved. And it seems that everyone is doing their best. Restaurants employ chefs from Athens; bars boast well-known dj's. And Mykonos is up to greet the new millennium in a festive atmosphere and with a long list of celebrities: Brigitte Nielsen wreaking havoc invading Pierro's toilets, Keith Richards and his wife calling each other names outside Astra, Linda Evangelista drinking juice at Pierro's, Tom Hanks and Steven Spielberg swimming at Elia, Mila Jovovich dancing on the wooden floor at Mad, and Barbara Streisand enjoying the sunset at Small Venice in Donna Karan's company.

Today, the windswept island seems to have redressed the balance and rediscovered its pace of life. Cycladic hospitality has found the way to keep in step with service of high standards, and Mykonos is now in a position to meet everyone's needs: the society people, the low profile ones, those who love reveling through the night, sport lovers, and family people. All the above is the proof that Mykonos accepts everything. It filters everything. The island has this magic little wand that manages to change you, even a little as happened with all the frequents that gradually became "slaves" to its eternal rythm. Mykonos is one of the most vivid examples of transformation. It can bring out the best or worst self, as some people who've lived it deeply have said. Maybe both. What difference does it make anyway?

THE TRANSFORMATION OF A KOMPLOI INTO A SMALL ARTWORK THAT IS WORN AROUND THE NECK ORIGINATES FROM A MINAS SOURCE INSPIRATION.

As a new age is dawning for Minas, the experimentation with new forms and ideas is definitely something that excites. The dialogue between the past and the present is even more interesting, in such a bold manner as only a brand characterised by robust differentiating factors can achieve. A tangible example is how a completely Greek symbol, the kompoloi (traditional worry beads manipulated with the hands) is transformed into another realm, one that transcends tradition. It becomes an original silver necklace, with shining beads redolent of the shape of a human hand, an abstract and fluid approach; much like how the kompoloi begins as a game, it can also take on an aesthetic quality, may become a vanity or a journey into the sphere of aesthetics.

Inner connections that become a pretext for proximity through metallic stories revealed by the Minas archives. Small consecutive joints create an idiosyncratic universe in silver or in combination with gold, and adorn outfits that reveal an uncompromising character, a presence that seeks its expression through choices in which details ultimately make the difference. In the same way Minas is inextricably linked with robust simplicity and the fluidity of form, Cross Bones is more than a simple piece of jewellery: it is evidence of a presence that knows not much fanfare is needed to show who you are. Mystique times

THE CODE 11.59 BY AUDEMARS PIGUET STARWHEEL, IS A TIMEPIECE CRAFTED IN BLACK CERAMIC AND 18-CARAT WHITE GOLD.

Invented in the 17th century, wandering hours are a type of horological complication that display the hours using a system of satellites that gravitate along a minute scale arranged in the form of an arc. This aesthetic presentation of the hours and minutes brings a certain mystique to the reading of time. After falling from favour in the 20th century, this system was rediscovered and reintroduced by Audemars Piguet in 1991. Named the Starwheel, this unusual mechanism equipped many models up until the early 2000s. Today, the Starwheel is making a comeback in the Code 11.59 by Audemars Piguet collection, whose ultra-contemporary design highlights this fascinating display while also paying tribute to a relatively unknown classic in Haute Horlogerie complications. Discover the Code 11.59 in the Audemars Piguet boutique in Mykonos!

CIGAR EXPERIENCE
THE HOUSE OF GRAUER LANDED ON MYKONOS

The Bill & Coo premium collection consists of cigars from Cuba, Santo Domingo and Nicaragua, which the trained staff is ready to suggest, present, prepare and serve. Obviously, there's been a selection process: due to the increased demand for cigars and the limited production - especially of Cuban cigars - the trained personnel is flexible but selective in their choices. Keen to provide the best experience to our guests, we are proud to announce our collaboration with the House of Grauer, that will kick off with a special event. This space in Geneva, dedicated to Epicureanism, boasts an unrivalled selection of cigars. A lot more than just a cigar shop, the House of Grauer is a place where time stops and passions thrive. A concept that was created where dilettantes reunite in context with vintage wines, refined tea, coffees with distinct aromas and custom-made chocolates, while also acts as a cultural place dedicated to Art. It is the largest walk-in humidor in Europe, sparkling with its eight faceted sides. The "crystalline heart" is encircled by four spaces: The Cellar, where the chef sommelier treasures fine wines, exceptional spirits and champagnes, The Boutique, which offers a selection of accessories from finely assorted cigar humidors, The Lounge, which is like a doorway that transports you to Havana and finally, The Art and Culture space, which showcases the great cigar saga, through ornaments and authentic documents, blended with fine paintings and sculptures.

TWO COCKTAILS INSPIRED BY THE
SETTING OF BILL & COO LOUNGE
AND THE ISLAND OF MYKONOS.

Vibrant Delos

On his most quiet days, George escapes with a 20 minute board ride to Delos, the magic island from ancient Greece. In order to celebrate the release of Compass Box Delos Whisky, George wanted to highlight the flavours of this spirit and his place of safety, Delos. The classic Penicillin cocktail was for him the perfect choice. Yamas!

Ingredients
Compass Box Delos, Port Charlotte 10 Years Old,
Ginger, Lemon, Honey

Mykonos Mule

As one of George's favourite drinks, the Moscow Mule, it is evident that a twist of this had to be on the cocktail list. George's passion is to work with Greek products, especially from his first home of choice, Mykonos. Especially the Mykonu Prickly Pear beer had to be honoured in this drink, as the Mykonu brewery is George's hidden highlight. The combination of rum, the spiciness of ginger and a top-up of the beer fitted more than ever. Cheers!

AN EXQUISITE RITUAL
THIS IS THE STORY OF ONE OF THE MOST PRECIOUS SPIRITS ON EARTH.

It was in 1724 when Paul Emile Rémy Martin founded the eponymous French house, with a vision to create the most exceptional spirit on the planet with the best eaux-de-vie from the vineyards of the blessed land of Grande Campagne. In 1874, Louis XIII is born, named in honour of the King of France, patron of the Cognac region. The vein of “gold” created at that time by the master blender of the house, Remy Martin, assigns to the next generations of cellar masters of the family, the greatest project in the history of the famous French spirit. Today, the story continues with Cellar Master Baptiste Loiseau preserving the finest eaux-de-vie as a legacy to his successors for the next century. Like everything precious in life, Louis XIII is enjoyed in small doses, one drop at a time. Let the first one roll between your lips, preparing your palate for a fireworks display of aromas and flavours that are revealed in your mouth by the second drop: Honey, walnut, dried rose with honeysuckle and jasmine and ripe fruit make up this melody of happiness. The legend of Louis XIII in cosmopolitan Mykonos is brought to life in one of the island’s most iconic hotels. Combining its passion for perfection with the excellence of its unique spirit, Bill & Coo offers its distinguished guests another tailor made experience that activates the senses. The sacred moment of tasting the legendary spirit, at Bill & Coo’s pool lounge, lasting an hour and a half, introduces you to selected spirits from the Remy Martin range with an exceptional pairing with dishes by Executive Chef Ntinos Fotinakis, culminating in the tasting of the unique Louis XIII spirit. Upon request, the ritual can be “orchestrated” by the brand ambassador of Louis XIII in Greece, Mr. Panagiotis Panagiotatos.

EXCEPTIONAL WINE
VINEYARDS’ PARADE

Enjoying a remarkable wine in the unique environment of Bill & Coo Hotels is certainly an experience in itself! The Wine Program aspires to satisfy even the most demanding customer as the wine lists are selectively built to match the style of each restaurant and the profile of the guests. The international vineyard is the foundation and includes thoughtful selections, primarily from France and Italy. But wines from the new world also have an important place on the lists. And of course, the Greek vineyard could not be absent from the Bill & Coo Hotels as the best that Greek wine has to offer is selected, while for the commercial wines the largest formats that age best are chosen. With a passion for gastronomy and fine wine, the Bill & Coo Hotels constantly strive for excellence. Thus the En Primeur programme is already in place, i.e. investing in wine zones and producers by pre-purchasing wines before they are even bottled. This makes it possible, over time, to build up a cellar of consecutive vintages of excellent wines.

It is a fact that food serves as a language of connection, weaving through the fabric of our lives, connecting us to our roots and igniting a sense of nostalgia. It holds a special place in our hearts, preserving the essence of our childhood experiences and celebrating our traditions.

"Thea" and "Theo," embodying the essence of their names in Greek meaning "god" and "goddess" respectively, who remind us of the power of food to bring people together, evoke cherished memories, and awaken our senses in delightful ways.

Immerse yourself in the delightful Greek culinary tradition known as "κέρασμα" (pronounced "ke-ra-sma"). Picture entering a warm Greek household, enveloped in the aroma of freshly baked treats. A κέρασμα represents a spread of homemade delicacy, lovingly prepared to welcome guests and create a sense of warmth and philoxenia.

THEA'S FOOD ADVENTURES

Thea, growing up on the enchanting island of Mykonos, cherished Sundays. She recalls walking with her grandfather into the local kafeneion (Greek cafe), where voices mingled with the clinking of glasses, filled with anticipation. The real feast awaited them at home, where her grandmother transformed simple ingredients into extraordinary dishes. Thea can almost taste the savory Athinaiki salad, with potatoes from Naxos, Cretan capers, and locally caught fish, all drizzled with fragrant olive oil and lemon juice. She reminisces about sharing stories and laughter with her family, savoring a delicious chicken roast accompanied by grandma's flavorful roast potatoes. And as a grand finale, Thea's grandmother would prepare a heavenly honey dessert, sweetened with golden nectar from her grandfather's cherished beehive. This is a journey that celebrates the beauty of Greek cuisine, the warmth of family gatherings, and the cherished traditions that resonate with many.

THEO'S TREASURES

Theo finds solace in the memories of Kathara Deutera, also known as Clean Monday, marking the start of Lent. Blissful picnics filled his childhood, with the scent of freshly baked lagana bread drizzled with local olive oil, mingled with the briny embrace of octopus, tantalising his senses. They watched their kite soar as laughter echoed through the hills. Hand in hand with his mother, Theo explored the mountains, discovering nature's hidden treasures and fragrant herbs. The herbs adorned their dishes throughout the week, adding flavors to a fragrant tomato pie. Foraging created a deep connection to the land and its gifts. The vibrant Feast of the Prawns in Amfilohia became a joyful celebration, with the enticing scent of fresh seafood and rhythmic beats of music. Theo immersed himself in the revelry, feeling a sense of belonging. Palm Sunday, a week before Easter, brought anticipation. Fish with skordalia, featuring red mullet mixed with tangy garlic and fragrant lemon, awakened Theo's senses. The crispy fish and creamy skordalia enveloped him in warmth. Palm Sunday heralded Easter Sunday, the pinnacle of the grand celebration. Glorious weather embraced the festivities as families gathered together. The succulent aroma of roast lamb filled the air, its tender meat cooked to perfection. The table overflowed with traditional delicacies and homemade treats, each dish holding a special significance.

A TALK WITH NTINOS

When you first meet Chef Ntinos (pronounced “Dinos”) Fotinakis, you’re immediately struck by his warmth and his huge smile that’s as big as his heart. “I believe in philoxenia, the Greek concept of treating everyone as a friend. Whether you come to my house in Athens or to my “home” at Bill & Co here in Mykonos, you’ll be treated the same way,” says Ntinos. “I want you to feel comfortable, I want to make sure you’re trying lots of different things, that you have a glass of wine in your hand, that we’re having good conversation together.” And it’s when he’s making his guests happy in this way, bringing the same passion and emotion to friends and family as to guests he’s met for the first time that morning, that Ntinos feels most rewarded by making the career choice to become a chef.

What’s new this year in the culinary world of Bill & Co?

2023 I feel is a year of renewal. Here at Bill & Co we are embarking on a different journey that will signal a new cycle for us and our guests. We will continue to offer our favourite ingress well as flavours that some of our long-standing guests have come to associate us with. However the journey we’ll be guiding our guests through, will be filled with joy, nostalgia, fun and a sense of discovery. I’m also pleased to welcome officially to the Bill & Co family Mr. Dimitri Bellos (The Emagineers) who previously graced the dinning room at The Fat Duck in Bray and Marcus Wareing at The Berkeley in London. Dimitri has been a friend of Bill & Co for years and already we together we are forming a creative force that will further enhance Greek Gastronomy. This year we’ll take the first step to a different direction, and I’m very excited as well as looking forward to seeing your journey with us.

How has Greek cuisine evolved in recent years?

Greek gastronomy has been evolving creatively and dynamically for a number of years. The best thing about this evolution is that there’s more to come. There’s a great energy about, not only in cities like Athens and Thessaloniki who are spearheading the pack, but also in smaller centres where old, traditional ideas are being fused with a new approach to dining. Following the events of 2020, guests are seeking rich flavours and more variety. A number of Greeks are interested in learning more about other cuisines and how some can be celebrated to their fullest on Greek soil, or fused with traditional Greek gastronomy. And a special mention for Greek restaurants abroad and how the last few years a number of talented chefs and operators have been working tirelessly to set the record straight as well as bring new ideas to the dining table.

How would you describe the gastronomic the culinary experience that Bill & Co has to offer?

This is my seventh year at Bill & Co however it’s far from being a seven year itch. Bill & Co is home, and always will be. I consider myself blessed to have worked with amazing talent and under the stewardship of a visionary owner. Most importantly, I’m fortunate to have cooked for a number of amazing and interesting guests that have become friends along the way. Whatever happens next on this beautiful journey we’re on, the #billandcoowayoflife will always be part of me.

Which local products fascinate you in the preparation of a recipe?

When it comes to local Mykonian ingredients, the island may not have a plethora to offer, however it has ingredients with unique characteristics. Tomatoes, cheese, mushrooms and wild herbs. All have a distinct Mykonian character. To me though it’s not only the ingredient itself but also the rituals that we undertake to bring it from source to plate. Every year, the team and I take a walk on the rocky parts of Agios Ioannis to pick wild fennel and sea fennel. We then pickle and preserve both and use in our dishes throughout the season. Particularly fun is visiting our cheese supplier where we get to sample where we get to sample cheeses at their early stages before maturation. I always enjoyed being close to animals and that connection helps build appreciation throughout the team for the beautiful produce we receive. My favourite ingredient are the mushrooms we pick around the Mettaleia area. It’s a good old walk and the landscape is beautiful. A reminder of the somewhat hidden beauty of Mykonos.

ENLIGHT- ENED BY MYKONOS

Five creators whose life and work was captured by the island light forever. BY GEORGE PAPAIDANNOU

Parthenis

FASHION DESIGNER

He would take a piece of fabric and dip it in the waters of Ftelia, he would let it soften on the sand of Agios Sostis beach and let the wind cut it into ornate pieces on Korfos. Having enclosed all of Mykonos in this one piece of fabric, he would then use it to make the most beautiful T-shirts, the airiest shorts, the softest towels; in other words he made our best years, back in the late 70's, a time when everyone wanted to have a white or black Parthenis in their wardrobe - without a doubt. In this way, Dimitris Parthenis became one with Mykonos and Mykonos was a strong presence in his iconic space in Kolonaki, and even earlier, in Syntagma. His daughter, Orsalia, infused with the same island inspirations, continues to create lovely Doric items that we love to wear.

inspiration

Minas

JEWELLERY DESIGNER

Imagine Mykonos in geometric terms; with curves that refract the straight lines of houses under the dazzling light of the sun. With the endless lines that attempt to combine the two shades of blue in the Aegean: sun and sky. And now, if you open your eyes and wear a piece of jewellery on your neck, ear, or hand, silver like the moons of Mykonos or gold like its beaches, be sure that you will also find the famous characteristic signature: Minas. From 1986, when he designed his house with its exemplary architecture, and from 1998 when he created his boutique in the former house of Manto Mavrogenous, to the present day when his children Arion and Prometheus are continuing his legacy, Minas is simply part of Mykonos' international history.

Carolina

PAINTER

She went down the ship's wooden ladder and stepped into the fishing boat that would take her to shore. Twenty-three years old, already a citizen of the world, she had started her journey from Boston, stopped in Germany for studies, then passed by in Paris before coming to Mykonos for holidays in the summer of 1962. She was one of the ten tourists who visited the island that year, but Carol Wells did not intend to remain simply a "tourist". She fell in love with the island, it fell in love with her, and she made it hers; it renamed her Carolina, and as "KapoAlva" she signed the paintings she would sell in the narrow streets. Carolina has painted all of Mykonos, its people, its boats, its houses - even its soul. Her artworks can be found all over the world and now, as she enters her ninth decade, she keeps them all in mind as a reminder of the island where she spent all of her life, as she now lives in America with her daughter.

To leave your legal practice in New York behind while pursuing a career on Wall Street, and deciding to relocate to Mykonos, is a mystery worth solving. Unless of course, your name is Jeffrey Siger, you are a mystery novel writer, and your first novel "Murder in Mykonos" becomes a best seller upon publication. The wonderful Mr. Siger has since published eleven more books, not including his collections, receiving rave reviews from significant publications such as the New York Times, as well as earning important distinctions for his work abroad. His work has also been published in the United States, in Germany and in Greece. It goes without saying that stories continue to race through his intricate mind, stories that completely justify his choice to continue spending a large amount of his time on the island, inspired by the Greek archipelago.

Antony Gormley

SCULPTOR - ARTIST

Creation tears through the absolute silence of the solitary island, and it remains just as silent, just allowing Art to make noise alongside the winds. There, among and beside the imposing antiquities, Delos comes back to life again, after centuries, through the works of an artist who fell in love with this island just as much as Mykonos. In this way begins the love of British sculptor-artist Antony Gormley with Mykonos and the Sacred Island of antiquity. Four years ago, in collaboration with the Ephorate of Antiquities of Cyclades and the NEON Non-Profit Organisation, it was Gormley who presented his artworks on the island, 29 human figures made of iron, in an effort to “restore” the human presence and create a natural pathway leading back to mythology and the human activity of Delos’ past!

to catch a wave

01. MEGALI AMMOS

Free of umbrellas and sun loungers, the beach is ideal for a quick dip for those who want to keep within a safe distance from Chora. Accessible even on foot, the golden beach with fine sand and northerly winds is also a great place for windsurfing, and a luxurious stay with high dining. Dive in the unique pool of Bill & Coo Suites & Lounge and taste the dishes of the restaurant (bill-coo-hotel.com).

02. KAPARI

A western beach that is worth visiting late in the afternoon. A ten-minute walk from Agios Ioannis and you will arrive at one of the island’s last havens. Nudists and old Mykonos devotees gather here daily, while the concept of organization is completely absent. Dive into the sea from the smooth rocks at the end of the beach and seek your privacy.

03. AGIOS IOANNIS

Protected from both northerly and southerly winds, the beach is divided in two by some gentle rocks and boasts the stunning sunset featured in the 1989 film, Shirley Valentine. Among the beach’s strong points are the interesting seabed towards the right, ideal for snorkeling, the very fine pebbles that are perfect for natural reflexology and for barefoot luxury lovers. For such an experience visit the redesigned Beefbar on the Coast in Mykonos and the exclusive Beach Lounge (mykonos.beefbar.com).

04. ORNOS

The island’s most popular family beach attracts all types of tourists, Greek families and quite a few locals. The natural barrier created by the settlement’s houses blocks the strong north wind which often pounds the island, while the south wind does not affect the sea since the bay, while large, is closed and protected. Ornos’ long sandy beach has numerous restaurants and café-bars with tables all the way to the sand.

05. AGIOS STEFANOS

This is an ideal beach for those who wish to avoid high society, admire the magnificent views of the Small Delos islands and enjoy a magical sunset with the locals. If you feel adventurous, keep driving towards the protected Houlakia beach. Swim to the small cove behind the rocky shoreline and benefit from this idyllic location despite the strong winds.

06. HOULAKIA

07. RHENIA

The best way to visit Rhenia is by boat. Hidden caves and virgin beaches await those who get there. There are four unique and isolated beaches with golden-white sand and crystal-clear waters with blue-green colour on the island: Glyfada, Stena, Lia and Ambelia. Take a small beach hopping journey to admire them all.

08. PSAROU

It has been experiencing glory days since the 1980s, setting the summer’s trends and defining the concept of luxury living on Mykonos. It boasts warm waters even from the early spring. The road is quite narrow with sharp turns and requires attention. You will come here to see and be-seen. If you have some time to enter the design world of Nammos Village with many famous luxury fashion brands (nammosvillage.com).

09. PLATIS GIALOS

Protected from the winds and beautiful albeit packed, Platis Gialos is fairly developed. Its big plus is its sporty character and the plethora of restaurants and hotels that line the beach. The hotels, sunbeds and parasols usually attract families and young couples.

10. AGIA ANNA (PARAGA)

Agia Anna still maintains, to a degree, the image of a quiet, family beach, functioning as a discharging point from its two noisy neighbours. The beach faces southwest and gets the sun until late, offering the opportunity for long-term sunbathing before or after enjoying the authentic recipes of Nikolas taverna (nikolas-taverna.com).

11. PARAGA

It is the first beach on the island to open and the last to close, since its favourable orientation guarantees warm days from May to October. There is easy parking at both entrances: from Agia Anna and just before Paradise. Get ready for frenzied dancing at SantAnna (santannamykonos.com) and the bohemian style of Scorpios as you enjoy its vibes until the night hours (scorpiosmykonos.com).

12. PARADISE

It is among the first of the island’s hot spots to strongly support the nudist dogma. Numerous beach bars are lined on the beach, inspiring people to get up and dance. The beach is also accessible by sea on small boats (caiques) which depart from Ornos and Platis Gialos. The nights at Cavo Paradiso with a dazzling DJ line-up are unforgettable (cavoparadiso.gr).

13. SUPER PARADISE

Super Paradise has entered a new era of partying, connecting with each other and enjoying life, charged with the special energy that this beautiful beach in Mykonos has been radiating for over fifty years. A landmark holiday destination, the new Super Paradise Beach Club is a place where guests from around the world become co-travellers in the journey of authentic, most-modern bohemian fun, partying moments, relaxation, and pampering with mouth-watering food options, sensational wines and creative cocktails. Located above the dazzling turquoise waters of the beach, Jackie O’ Beach Club awaits with an explosion of the senses (jackieomykonos.com), while the fresh Paraj Restaurant and Beach offers an exceptional high-end experience (paraj-superparadisemykonos.com).

14. AGIOS SOSTIS

No make-up, bars, shops, tourist enterprises or sunbeds. With wonderful deep blue waters, it favours snorkeling fans. Here you will see celebrities and anonymous nudists,

Fokos

16 Ftelia

Fokos still remains an untouched treasure, with shallow green water and thick sand as well as locals. Best from May to mid-July and then in September; avoid the August meltemi winds which make conditions unwelcoming. You could go by your own vehicle or by taxi.

15. PANORMOS

The livelier beach of Mykonos remains a quiet corner. This ex-hippie and nudist haunt is reminiscent of old Mykonos, while it has a wild beauty with its colours changing throughout the day. Choose Panormos if you want a break from the large crowds and enjoy a truly magical scenery.

16. FTELIA

Ftelia is divided into two by a rock formation that reaches the sea. Starting from Chora, take a right turn at the crossroads to discover the ideal surfing destination and admire a performance offered by the virtuoso surfers. When it is not windy, the landscape is reminiscent of a lagoon and the beach is frequented by a number of locals and artists.

17. FOKOS & MYRSINI

Fokos still remains an untouched treasure, as buses don't reach this beach, with shallow green water and thick sand. Picturesque and calm with the island's coldest waters, it is located right after the artificial lake of Marathi and is quite seriously affected by the north winds. Myrsini is the next beach with crystal-clear green waters. Another small, sandy gem that calms you, with its natural tranquillity and its blue horizon.

18. ELIA

A lot of people prefer Elia as the best beach on the island, ideal for water sports and for families. You must visit to discover it for yourself! Do not forget that it is one of the

to catch a wave

bigger sandy beaches on the island and that it preserves its bohemian feeling. It is better to visit it on days with a north wind for calm waters.

19. AGRARI

On the south side of the island, Agrari introduces its charm and calmness. It has sun loungers and water sports and can also be accessed by small boats from Platis Gialos. The beach’s right-hand side, by the rocks, is ideal for diving and playing games in the clear blue water. Taste local appetizers and share traditional recipes at noon at Agrari Beach Restaurant (agraribeach.gr).

20. KALO LIVADI

In the southern eastern part of the island, you will find one of the best organized beaches with a strong cosmopolitan feel, which covers every entertainment and taste expectation. Indulge in this long, yellow sandy beach with green-blue clear waters, abundant umbrellas, sunbeds and water sports.

21. AGIA ANNA (KALAFATIS)

Drive a bit further past Kalafatis or walk a few minutes to find the somewhat hidden little beach. With clean, emerald waters and sand that continues some distance into the sea, the beach is embraced by ancient Divounia, which act as wind breakers for its calm and velvet sandy beach. Don't miss a romantic dinner at Spilia Seaside (spiliarestaurant.gr).

22. KALAFATIS

This is one of the island’s biggest beaches and even when crowded, it offers a sense of space which is ideal for families. Sports lovers would not change it for the world; you can try everything from jet skiing and banana boat rides, to parachuting and diving. The sand is quite pebbly, while there are many trees for natural shade. Get ready for a diving lesson by world record holder Waldemar Foit at his W-Diving school (mykonos-diving.com).

23. LIA

Lia is the last of the southern beaches that you can go by car. A small bay with deep crystal waters protected from the strong northerly winds which is ideal for snorkeling. This is the alternative preferred by celebrities who arrive by boat. Get ready for a more secluded experience, walk over the rocks to reach the neighbouring Tigani beach. But before that, have a look at Liasti beach club (liastimykonos.com)

Heaven can wait

CAVO PARADISO FANS CAN NATURALLY EXPECT EVEN MORE POWERFUL DAYS AND NIGHTS THAN THE ONES THAT, FOR 30 YEARS, HAVE BEEN MAKING HISTORY IN THE WORLD OF CLUBBING. BY GEORGE PAPAIOANNOU

If only the numbers could speak, they're so staggering that this article could stop at the following sentence: In the 30 years of Cavo Paradiso's existence, more than 450 famous DJ's have played music and the club is at the top of the gold list of the most famous electronic music stages worldwide.

But, because Cavo Paradiso is much more than numbers and rankings, let's unfold together a story that could describe the evolution of Mykonos as everyone - locals and tourists alike - would like it to be everywhere on the island.

They say that success needs a good location. But Mykonos' whole map is a good location, so standing out among the many takes something more: heart. And that heart, thirty years ago, started beating when Nikos Daktylidis slowly began to create paradise on top of the hill, above the famous Paradise beach.

The inspirer of Cavo Paradiso saw his vision surpass his expectations and conquer the whole world, simply because he reverently observed the obvious (but not usual): he fully respected the environment, so that the feeling that his fans are in nature and appreciate the wild beauty offered by Mykonos and the Aegean archipelago, is pervasive. The culmination of this philosophy? Cavo Paradiso recently earned the prestigious Green Key, an award given to tourism businesses worldwide, rewarding ecological and green credentials.

As for its musical credentials? Cavo Paradiso has gained a global reputation by organising one of the most intense summer artist programs on the planet each summer, with daily back-to-back events throughout the season, featuring the biggest international DJs on stage.

In one sentence? A party at Cavo Paradiso can convince you why Paradise can wait until the next party. And, then, until the next one...

Everyone is talking about the cultural renaissance that is blossoming in this year's Athenian summer. Having fully returned back to its pre-pandemic standards, the Greek capital is boasting an impressive array of events from the art, music and theatre sector. All around the city, people huddle-up with their agendas and squabble over which concert or theatre performance they should choose. "The legendary rockstars Guns n' roses or the modern pop idol Rosalia? Frank Castorf's Medea or Giorgos Skevas's Oedipus at Colonus?" Many dilemmas, so little time. So, we summed up the ultimate guide to help you choose between the most prominent events of this summer's cultural calendar.

Athens steals the show

ART AND CULTURE IS BOOMING IN THIS YEAR'S SUMMER IN THE GREEK CAPITAL. ART EXHIBITIONS AND INSTALLATIONS, CONCERTS BY CONTEMPORARY AND ALL-TIME FAVORITE MUSICIANS AND BANDS, THEATRICAL PERFORMANCES AND MANY OTHER EVENTS CORONATE ATHENS AS A TOP CULTURAL DESTINATION.

01. THE ESSENCE OF ANONYMITY B&M THEOCHARAKIS FOUNDATION

On the occasion of the 100th anniversary of the birth of Yannis Gaitis, the B & M Theocharakis Foundation is hosting a retrospective exhibition of representative works by the Greek painter and sculptor which illustrate how his art evolved. His acclaimed 'Little Men' travel to a time long ago, as if seeking to identify their ontological presence with history or feel its necessity, creating – with their bodies – his very own Acropolis. Till 31/10, thf.gr

02. ANDREA BOCELLI OLYMPIC STADIUM

Legendary tenor and multi-instrumentalist Andrea Bocelli is coming to Greece for the first time. Globally recognised as the ultimate symbol of the splendid Italian singing tradition, Bocelli has made a decisive contribution to the dissemination of classical music. The 'signore' has been described as one of the most important artists of all time, an assessment backed up by six Grammy Award nominations, not to mention performances in front of four US presidents, three popes, the British royal family, as well as at Olympic Games ceremonies. 18/7, andreaabocelli.com

03. MEDEA ANCIENT THEATRE OF EPIDAUROS

The historic festival invites internationally acclaimed, avant-garde director Frank Castorf in Epidaurus for the first time, where he is set to present Medea. Having left his mark on the so-called "German style" since the 1990s, he will collaborate with major Greek theatre actors, bringing together an anarchic mode of acting, improvisation and freedom in performing and delivering an electrifying directorial perspective. 21-22/7, aefestival.gr

04. KRAFTWERK ODEON OF HERODES ATTICUS

Coming from Düsseldorf, the iconic group that has been characterized as pioneers and innovators of electronic music since the 1970s, is making its debut at the Odeon of Herodes Atticus. Known for their multidimensional performances, they will present their newest audiovisual show which has received rave reviews across the world. Kraftwerk's great hits will be presented live in a unique manner specifically designed for the Roman Odeon stage. 16/7, aefestival.gr

05. ARCTIC MONKEYS PLATEIA NEROU

Any announcement that the Arctic Monkeys are coming to Greece sends ripples of anticipation among local music lovers. This time, their concert was sold out in just a few hours, resulting in the addition of one more day so that fans can enjoy the indie rock superstars from England. With a brand-new album, "The Car", in their luggage, Alex Turner and his bandmates will prove why they have been widely acclaimed as a restless group that constantly reinvents its sound. 18-19/7, releaseathens.gr

06. NABUCCO ODEON OF HERODES ATTICUS

One of Giuseppe Verdi's greatest operas, Nabucco, which sealed his place as the most important Italian composer of the 19th century, is being revived for four performances at the Odeon of Herodes Atticus in the framework of the Athens Epidaurus Festival, conducted by Paolo Carignani and directed by Leo Muscato. 26-30/7, nationalopera.gr

07. GUNS N' ROSES OLYMPIC STADIUM

As part of their extensive world tour produced by Live Nation, with headline shows all over the planet, Axl Rose, Slash and the whole iconic rock group are returning to Athens after 30 years. 22/7, highpriority.gr

08. RICK LOWE
BENAKI MUSEUM &
GAGOSIAN

Known for works of "social sculpture," in which he exercises skills in civic organization, political agitation, real estate development, and architectural criticism, and for related paintings and works on paper, American artist Rick Lowe is presenting two almost concurrent exhibitions in Athens: Hic Sunt Dracones (Here Lay Dragons). Mapping the Unknown: A project by Rick Lowe at the Benaki Museum, which takes the form of a dialogue with the institution's historical collection, and Still Learning from Athens, Lowe's first exhibition at the Gagosian gallery's location in the city. Till 30/7, benaki.org, gagosian.com

09. HERBIE HANCOCK
ODEON OF HERODES
ATTICUS

One of the musical highlights of this year's Athens Epidaurus Festival, is iconic jazz pianist's Herbie Hancock concert at the emblematic Herodion. A world-renowned figure of contemporary music, he has garnered numerous accolades, including 14 Grammy Awards and an Academy Award, and collaborations with artists like Miles Davis and Michelangelo Antonioni, in an impressive career spanning five decades. 11/7, aefestival.gr

10. URBANOGRAPHY
NATIONAL GALLERY

The innovative exhibition focuses its interest on urbanization and the way humans participate or resist the new condition dictated by the ever-changing environment. 75 creators, 200 visual works and 21 films are presented, attempting to map the total scope of the concept "urban experience" by outlining the social subject within the city, with all the charm it can exert on it but also with all the limitations or exclusions that accompany it. SENDER
STAVROS NIARCHOS

Specially commissioned for Documenta 15 in Kassel, the work consists of a custom-built pavilion made of bales of used clothing – called mitumba in Swahili – the majority of which ends up in landfills in Africa, constituting a major environmental problem. Till 30/9, emst.gr, snfcc.gr
